

The Key Role of Construction in Arizona's Economy

The industry employed 199,000 workers in May 2008, 8% of the state's nonfarm employment of 2,653,000 and a decrease of 12.2% from one year before. Nationally, construction accounted for 5% of nonfarm employment but fell 5.1% over the year as homebuilding shrank.

Construction contributed $15 billion to state GDP of $247 billion in 2007.

Annual pay in 2006 in construction averaged $40,908, 4% more than than the private sector average of $39,524. Nationally, construction pay averaged $44,496, 5% more than the national private sector average of $42,414.

Small business is big in construction. Arizona had 15,000 construction firms in 2005, of which 86% employed fewer than 20 workers. In addition, Arizona had 32,000 construction firms without employees, mainly sole proprietorships, in 2005.

Arizona's population grew 2.8% from July 2006 to July 2007, 2nd fastest of all states; the national growth rate was 1%. Population growth affects the demand for many types of construction.
