AGC offers a variety of programs that meet the professional development needs of construction professionals across all levels. Leveraging peer-to-peer training, the use of construction-specific real-world scenarios, and intensive exercises, AGC courses offer you the practical tools you need to immediately impact your projects or career.

Program Descriptions

Advanced Management Program | Suited for chief executives and senior-level management in construction, this premier six-day program has been helping industry decision-makers amplify their business acumen since 1986, producing an elite society of graduates that includes top leaders throughout the construction marketplace. AMP provides an exceptional opportunity to sculpt future decision-makers and C-suite executives tapped to take the reins. For more information please contact education@agc.org.

AGC 91st Annual Convention and Pavilion | As the construction industry continues to battle tough economic conditions and legislative challenges, AGC's Annual Convention provides the only opportunity for contractors to get all the latest information on economic forecasts, rules and regulations, and best practices, and to hear first-hand from others on what they are doing to survive and thrive in this challenging environment. For more information or to register, go to <http://convention.agc.org/>

BIM Education Program | One of the most exciting developments in the construction industry, AGC's BIM Education Program is being developed in conjunction with leading BIM practitioners, technology firms and educators to provide contractors with the essential information and skills needed to successfully implement BIM. www.agc.org/BIMEP

BIMForum | The BIMForum has quickly become the can't-miss event for those interested in the application of virtual design and construction for the AEC industry, tripling in size in the last two years and hailed as a "wild success" by ENR. <http://bimforum.org/>

2010 Education and Training Calendar Program Descriptions

Building Contractors Conference | Join key players in the building construction industry as they gather to network, exchange ideas, and hear presentations offering timely guidance and best practices. The AGC Building Contractors Conference consistently offers forward-thinking, practical guidance that is crucial and necessary, now more than ever. In addition to the Lean Construction Forum, presentations include: Business of Safety, Green Construction Risks, Federal Legislative & Regulatory Update, and Contractor Surety Issues. www.agc.org/bcc

Building to LEED® for New Construction | An overview of the LEED for New Construction rating system with a focus on the means and methods of construction. Gain a complete understanding of roles on a LEED project - while remaining competitive in an increasingly green market. Learn all of the prerequisites and credits within the six LEED categories and which credits have major, moderate, or some impact on construction practices. www.agc.org/BtoL

Construction Financial Management Conference | AGC and the Construction Financial Management Association (CFMA) are partnering to offer programs designed specifically for financial professionals in the construction industry. Sessions will include Tax update, the economic outlook for construction materials and markets, a special panel presentation, and an update from FASB board members. www.agc.org/2010AGC_CFMA

Construction Project Manager Course | In the competitive construction industry, it pays in loyalty and quality to invest in professional development. The AGC Construction Project Manager Course (PMC) provides you and your project managers the chance to hone the skills necessary to work more efficiently, increase productivity and propel your construction business to the next level. For more information, contact education@agc.org.

Federal Contractors Conference | Due to the changing landscape in Federal Contracting, it is more important than ever that contractors—those experienced in Federal work or those looking to move into the this market—have access and answers to questions about Federal Contracting. The AGC Federal Contractors Conference is the only national event where AGC contractors and Federal agency personnel can meet in a neutral forum and review procurement and contracting issue from around the United States. www.agc.org/fedcon.

AGC Webinars bring live educational programs and info on legislative/regulatory changes directly to you. Check out the 2010 webinar schedule at www.agc.org/events.

Highway and Utilities Contractors Issues Meeting | This meeting is the premier national event for contractors and related businesses involved in every aspect of highway and utility construction to hear about and discuss issues and trends in these markets. Attendees will receive an update on legislation and legal decisions that affect the highway and utility markets. www.agc.org/highwayutilitiesissuesmeeting

HR Professionals Conference | This is a special opportunity for human resource (HR) professionals of all levels to share concerns, ideas, and best practices on the HR issues that contractors across the country face daily. Expert speakers provide compliance-related guidance and interactive round-table discussions that allow attendees to ask questions and share best practices, this event will cover what you need to know to be a successful HR professional in the construction industry. www.agc.org/hr

IT Forum Conference | The forum will provide participants an opportunity to network, share information, solve problems, keep up-to-date with the latest IT developments relating to the construction industry and to discuss and share best practices on some of the most pressing IT challenges. <http://constructionforums.org/itforum>

Project Manager Development Program | The Project Manager Development Program (PMDP) is a set of highly-interactive courses that provide participants the essential skills to advance their careers as project managers. The five-module program covers the basics of project management and provides tactics and strategies for ensuring project success. www.agc.org/PMDP

STP Instructor Training Workshop | This two-day workshop will provide instruction on how to effectively teach the highly effective Supervisory training Program (STP)—specifically how to teach adult learners, encourage interaction among participants and use the STP manuals to prepare and deliver a successful class. www.agc.org/STP

Safety and Health Conferences | Construction safety and health is vital for the success of the industry. Join more than 150 industry professionals for the latest updates and discussions on regulatory and legislative activity at both a national and local level; assist in the development and creation of new safety training programs and products; and learn about the latest initiatives from OSHA and other industry experts. www.agc.org/SafetyMeeting

Training and Development Conference | Constructors and chapter staff participate in industry-focused sessions to learn innovative approaches to managing and improving training at all professional levels. With expert speakers and interactive sessions, sharpen your skills while learning best practices for maximizing efficiency and effectiveness. www.agc.org/td
